Monthly Report:

The news for the month was Tiffany's first annual P-town Weekend. Since the larger part of this month's issue is dedicated to that, let's talk about other things.

April was spent in preparation for the Weekend, which makes talking about April a dull proposition. The girls did however manage a few excursions to the Randolph Country Club, the House restaurant, and the Metro (alias Boston Boston, alias 15 Lansdowne St.). (Everyone who went to the Metro said it was great. How can smoking, drinking and ear splitting music be great? They said it was great. I guess it takes all kinds.)

May 1-4, the P-town Weekend. The weekend was frittered away on fun and gaity, fine dining and parties, and festive merrymaking dusk till dawn. (See article.)

May 9 - Lora Green, our Mary Kay rep., came to Tiffany and gave a demonstration. I've been a loyal user of Mary Kay products for years and needed no demonstration. However, the demo included a free facial, and I'm a bug for free facials. By the way, Lora Green attends our monthly Professional Days (see Coming Events), and will be happy to give a free demonstration to anyone.

My 16, party - What a strange party. We had a fair turnout, 30 or so, but nobody wanted to do anything. I couldn't believe it. It reminded me of the old Tri Sigma meetings we used to have where everyone would have a cocktail, grab a sandwich, and for all practical purposes die. To liven things up I broke out the guitar, struck up a lively chorus of "MacNamara's Band', finished up with 'Dirges In The Dark', said, "The heck with it," and gave the guitar to DeeDee. (She's better than I am anyway.) I then retreated to the library to sulk. Kay then rubbed it in by reminding me that it was a dull party. What amazed me was, most everyone enjoyed themselves. The fact was, except for Kay no one, not even me, felt like partying. Perhaps it was too soon after the Weekend party, I don't know. Since people make the party, the party was exactly what the guests (except Kay) wanted.

(Kay had her chance for an evening of raucous libation and licentious activities at her own party two weeks later. -To Kay: Kay my dear, the message sould be clear. At Tiffany you are a lady, boring as that may be. You want to be a libertine, a brazen hussy, stay home!) (We'll join you there.)

May 23, business - The business meetings are getting more effective all the time. This one was well attended, and the discussion was constructive. There were a few issues discussed that should be shared with the membership as a whole.

The first deals with the issue of memberships. Tiffany's membership continues to grow, but most of these new memberships are Subscribers and Specials. The General and Key memberships, which are the life blood of Tiffany, are declining. The General and Keyholders pay the bills, run the meetings, sponsor the programs, etc. This decline is a very dangerous trend. What do we do about it?

The second issue concerns real estate. Tiffany wants to move into more adequate facilities. The question is where, and into what? In-town facilities would be more accessable to what's happening in town, mor convenient to get to, better able to provide living quarters for qualified person (therefore more affordable), and a better location for office space. A rural facilities would be more expensive and less accessable, but would provide greater space and privacy (and therfore a greater margin of safety), and would be a far superior location for parties. (Personally, I am a country girl, and would much prefer a rural setting, but my intuition tells me Tiffany would be more successful in the long run by thinking urban.) You're the membership, you decide. (refer to the article 'Time To Move')

Tiffany Weekend, Special Report

PROVINCETOWN WEEKEND

by Merissa Sherrill Lynn

The idea for the weekend was simple. 'Let's get together for a weekend, keep it uncomplicated, and have a good time.'

Yes, the idea was simple, and it seemed to have a lot of early support, and I was terrified. I was worried about what might go wrong. It was Tiffany's first try. Would we be brutal victems of Murphey's Law? I was worried about cost. With two hotels plus expenses, it represented a major financial gamble. (God help us if we didn't at least break even.) Since we had no planned programs, I was worried about participation. Since people make the party, we concentrated on getting good people, but we could have still wound up with a bunch of duds sitting around staring at each other. I'm telling you, the anxiety was awful.

(To make matters worse, I had a newsletter due just before the weekend began. Thank God for Susan Reynolds. She arrived a week early, volunteerd to help, and between us we managed to get everything done. Thanks to Susan, suicide no longer looked like a reasonable alternative.)

I arrived at P-town a day early to prepare for the weekend. Friday - registration - and everyone who said they were going to be there, arrived. That was the first load off my mind, for now I was assured that we had enough people for a good party, and we could pay the bills. To celebrate I went to my room and relaxed.

Later that afternoon I was standing at the window in my room watching the fishing boats drift peacefully in and out of the harbor. I heard a gentle knock on my door. I opened the door and there stood tall elegant

The C&A lobby, May 1st

Michelle wearing a spectacular smile and a pink t-shirt that said, 'I'm not as innocent as I look.'

She was ready to party. That was the second load off my mind for I finally felt secure that we were going to have a good weekend. The only question remaining was, 'how good?'

To measure 'how good' I looked for certain signs. For instance, I looked for people unconsciously smiling, for people other than participants who added something special, and for moments that were meaningful.

The entire weekend, from Friday to Monday, was blessed with an aura of happiness. I can't remember anyone not being happy. Michelle was happy, Susan was happy, Patricia was happy, and Vickie was so happy I think she hurt herself. I remember Frances' contentment as she played the C&A's grond piano. I remember Joyce's joy after finding just the right item in Carolyn's Boutique. I remember Theresa's unfortunate decision to use the lady's room during Linda Gerard's concert, and Nancy laughing so hard that tears creased her cheeks. I remember Charlotte's comment on the final day, "I know I haven't stopped smiling all weekend, but I just can't seem to help it." Everyone felt that way.

Besides the joy expressed by Charlotte and shared by us all, we were blessed by a wealth of special people. Who can forget Lil, the tomboy C&A housekeeper, or Charlotte, the lady with the snowwhite hair, soft hands, and warm smile? (I enjoyed Lil's version of the Celtics games better than the games themselves.) Who can forget the gals at the Pied Piper, particularly Linda Gerard. Linda's Sunday afternoon concert was perhaps the hi-light of the Weekend. We will remember Mark and Horace's fine dinner at the Ocean's Inn, and Roberta's post-concert hospitality? Most of all though, who can forget Johnathan? This year's Special Special Person award goes to Jonathan, the C&A's assistant manager.

For the entire weekend Jonathan went above and beyond the call of duty to take care of us and to help us feel welcome. He not only did an outstanding job for us at the C&A, he also arranged Friday's dinner at the Courtyard Restaurant and then joined us for dinner. He even sat with us in the lounge, and attended our parties. As a manager he gave us prompt and courteous service, and as a friend he gave us the pleasure of his delightful company. Jonathan was a treasure.

At the Weekend we had happiness, and we had special people, but I wanted more. I wanted the Weekend to mean something, to be more than just a happy event. I watched the participants all weekend, and saw so many of these meaningful moments I can't even begin to tell you. I'll restrict myself to two examples.

The first example is Frances. Frances is proud of her 78 years, but is experiencing the difficulties of her age. She is a longtime ember of Tiffany, a friend, and I care about her deeply. I also know what events such as the Weekend mean to her. Quite frankly I worry about her. On Saturday evening Frances was playing the C&A's grand piano. A number of people were listining to her but I don't think she was even aware. Her eyes were half closed and a hint of a smile on her lips as she swayed to her music. There was an aura of peace about her, and I knew all was well. As we passed by her on our way to dinner I stopped and asked her if she would care to join us. She said, "No thanks. I think I'll stay here for a while." We left.

Frances plays a fine piano, and Jenny turned to me and said, "You know, she's OK!" "Yes I know," I answered. For Frances, the Weekend was a success.

The second example was Barbara. Barbara is your basic nice person, someone who makes you feel good simply by being with her. She was also a newcomer. It is not appropriate for me to try to understand her feelings, but I do remember my feelings the first time I came to an event such as this, the fear, the anxiety, the misgivings as to whether or not I should even be there, or why. I felt a sense of identity with Barbara, and wanted the Weekend to be a positive experience, particularly for her. I watched her. All weekend she seemed to be floating on a euphoric cloud. (That feeling scares me, for too often I have seen the cloud burst when a person was flying high, and the fall was hard. I did not want that to happen to Barbara.) Barbara made it to Linda's concert, and I watched.

Linda gave a marvelous concert, in fact a powerful concert. You could feel a positive energy, a sense that Linda was speaking to us. I glanced to Barbara. She appeared to be emotionally involved in Linda's performance, hands held tight against the wall, lips parted, tears streaming down her cheeks. At that moment she looked as though she finally knew why she was there, and she knew that by God she was OK, and to be who and what she was was a beautiful thing to be.

That is what I mean by a meaningful experience. The question, "How good would the Weekend be," remains a question, for it was better than I could measure.

BOSTON/PROVINCETOWN TRIP

by
Susan Reynolds

Merissa, who runs the Tiffany Club in Boston had scheduled a four day, three night Get Away weekend May 1st through May 4th. She was kind enough to invite me to come up early and spend a few days at the Tiffany Club and I accepted. What follows is a running account of the activities as I remember them.

Saturday - April 25th - flew from Washington to Boston. Relaxed for a while upon arrival at the club and then bathed and changed. I taped my breasts to get maximum cleavage, and wore my red jumpsuit (very snug fitting) with the plunging neckline, my auburn wig with the blonde frosting and my 4¼ inch black patent leather shoes. Felt real good, and think that I looked it also. The Tiffany Club had a short meeting in early evening, and then about 9:00pm four of us went to a party that the Mayflower Society was giving. Very different, but very fun type evening. Very mixed crowd - TVs, some gays, some B&D, etc. (I can see why Merissa had some reservations about taking me since my scene is pretty much the straight TV scene.) In any event, had a ball - did not get home until about six the next morning.

Sunday - very lazy day - everyone sortof recuperating from the party. Early to bed.

Monday - Up and about, brown/white print dress, brown sling back shoes, and the short auburn wig. A number of club members were coming in during the day to dress for a few hours and I quite enjoyed talking to them. Did a bit of reading in the Tiffany Club library which is one of the most extensive TV libraries that I have ever seen.

Tuesday - wandered about town for a while, and then went to work helping Merissa do the Tiffany Club newsletter. I wore a white blouse with very puffy sleeves, and gray, mid-calf, very full skirt, my black boots and the short auburn wig. Merissa was editing, sorting, etc. while I was doing the typing for what ended up being a sixteen page newsletter. We worked from noon until two the next morning and it still wasn't done.

Wednesday - worked on the newsletter, and prepared for our Thursday departure. Watched a club member have a full body wax to remove hair. (not for me - definitely)

Thursday - up and about - decided to make the trip to Provincetown in "straight clothes". It's about a three hour drive and we arrived there at seven. Our rooms were quickly sorted out and we settled down to dressing. I wore a pale cream blouse with puffy sleeves, the 4¼ inch heels and a denim skirt with a small "bib" with straps. I honestly don't remember where we ate, but afterwards we ended up at the Pied Piper which is a women's bar which welcomes us. Did a lot of dancing and more than a little drinking - didn't get to bed until three. (What a pain it is to come in after a night like that, and have to go to all the trouble of taking off the makeup, taking a quick shower, creaming your face, etc before you go to bed. Oh well, it's part of being a woman.)

Friday - up and about early. Dressed in a soft yellow turtle neck with very full sleeves, my gray, mid-calf skirt, black boots and my brown, long shaggy wig. Had breakfast at a a place called Roses And Spirits - at this point only two other TVs were in town and therefore the natives weren't really looking for them. I had a ball - it was a beautiful, sunny day and I wandered all over the town - all the back streets, the small shops, etc. I tend to think that I pass, unless another person is looking for a TV (but who really knows whether they pass), but in any event, nothing was said to me.

Stopped at Oceans Inn to renew my acquaintance with Mark & Horace who run the place and then wandered down to the Crown and Anchor which is where I was staying to find that many of the sisters had arrived. Chatted with many of them, renewed acquaintances, drank, etc. Went upstairs and rested for a while. Bathed and started the transition into evening makeup and clothes. Wore a pale blue, knitted (very clingy) dress, my 4½ inch black shoes and carried a black patent leather purse - also wore auburn/ blonde wig. (The only thing that I don't like about that dress is that you have to wear panty hose since if you wear stockings there is a bump in the dress that shows where you attach the garter belt to the stockings - told you it was clingy!!). And of course - my pearls.

Ate at the Courtyard - there were about 30 of us and we sort of took over the dining room. Lovely meal - pleasant surroundings, attentive waiters - pretty dining companions. We stayed until about eleven and then went back down to the Pied Piper - - good music, white wine, and nice people, and of course a lot of dancing. Enjoyed it when a couple of the lesbians remarked that they couldn't understand how I could dance in such high heels - (little did they know that for a week before I went to Boston every night when I came home I put on the heels and wore them around the house to stretch the leg muscles). Back to the hotel where we gathered in a small reception room for more drinks, bits and pieces to eat, a lot of chatter, and just generally a good time. I don't think that any of us got to bed before five.

SATURDAY - BIG DAY Decided that it was going to be one of my "Buxom" days - an "F" cup bra, a loose fitting sweater with puffy sleeves (I have a fetish for that type of sleeves in case you didn't notice), the gray skirt, black boots and the shaggy wig. Too late for breakfast so settled for brunch at the Courtyard. Then did some shopping - sort of splurged - a very full, three layer crinoline and lace petticoat to wear under the black satin maid's uniform that I bought in England, a padded girdle, and the most exciting buy of all - a new wig. It is a soft blonde color, upswept with the hair piled on top of the head, short bangs, and a small tendril hanging down. Really had reservations about it for a number of reasons including - I never wear blond, nor do I wear a wig that is pulled away from my face. Tried it on, the girl fussed with it, I wore it for 10 minutes or so, looking at myself in the mirror - and then decided to buy it.

I knew exactly what I was going to wear that evening with the new wig - please bear with me while I describe in detail - after bathing I made up using a lighter color foundation that I normally do since blonds tend to have fairer skin - used three shades of rather pale blue eyeshadow and penciled my brows thinner than I normally do. Put on a black, lace up waist cinch that brings me down to 27 inches, black "D" cup bra, black snug girdle with just a bit of padding for the hips, black super sheer and silky seamed stockings (panty hose) -- over which I put a black, sheer, very puffy and frilly blouse, and a black, velour skirt with a slit up the side - the black 4½ inch shoes, and purse, black belt, a 27" strand of pearls around my neck, pearl earrings, and ring and of course the new blonde wig.

Took a look at myself in a full length mirror and decided that I had put together a good outfit. Walked down into the lounge where there were a number of people (including many locals) and when it got real quiet I knew that I had put together the right outfit. I felt pretty, sexy, classy, and outrageous. As the evening wore on I proved that all four adjectives were accurate.

We had drinks at the hotel and then walked about a half mile to th Oceans Inn for dinner - there were about 25 of us in varying size groups so of course we caused a bit of a commotion. As we walked into the Oceans Inn there was one chap sitting at the bar with his wife who stared at me then turned and said something to his wife. I paused beside and said very politely "Sorry?" as if in question, as if I had missed something that I should have heard. He said, "You look just like a woman that my wife and I know." I fluffed up my hair a bi and said, "Oh really? Is she a sexpot too?" We both laughed and I walked away. Mark, one of the owners paid me a lovely compliment when he said, "What ever you do, you do with class!!" And that's just the way I felt - a classy woman.

Dinner was lovely as always at that place. Shared my table with Betty Ann who heads the Tri-Sig chapter from Alexandria, with Michelle, who heads Tri-Sig in Philadelphia, and with Sharon, who, like myself is very active in Tri-Sig. I took loads of pictures while we were eating of all the girls.

After dinner we all wandered back to the Crown and Anchor for a lingerie party - we all got into nightgowns of one sort or another - my own was a shorty, in biege color with a plunging neckline and long sleeves - there were drinks, snacks, a lot of talk, pictures, laughter, etc. A very very pleasant way to spend six additional hours - I didn't get to bed until nearly six.

I MUST SAY THAT IT WAS ONE OF THE MOST PLEASANT EVENINGS THAT I HAVE EVER HAD AS A WOMAN, IF NOT THE MOST PLEASANT. It is really amazing what you can do, how you can act, etc. when you know you look good and you feel good. And that was the way it was with me that night. Please forgive me if I have blown my own horn too much, but it was a super evening.

Sunday - did not get up until four in the afternoon and then it started all over again - to the Pied Piper to hear Linda Gerard who is a good vocalist - to a local girl's house for drinks and snacks, and then to dinner at a place called Inn Of the Mews - it turnned out that this was the best dinner, and the most reasonable price for the entire weekend. Had prime rib with roast potatoes, desert etc. for only $10.00 and was it ever good.

Monday - up early and packed - in straight clothes wandered down to the room that we had been using as a gathering room, for parties, etc. to find a number of girls in various stages of dress or undress having coffee and doughnuts. Said my goodbyes, got many addresses and took off for Boston to catch my flight. Upon arriving back in Washington, hung up what hat to be hung up, washed what had to be washed and then just collapsed in bed. What a SUPER time - anyone want to do it again next week?

Love from me to all of you,

Susan

COMMENTS FROM THE PARTICIPANTS

(Although most of the letters were addressed to Merissa, the letters are intended for Liz, Ginny, Susan, Sharon, all the members of Tiffany who helped make the weekend possible, and especially to the Participants who made the Weekend successful.)

Dear Merissa

Just has to sit down and write a short note to offer my appreciation for all your efforts with the Tiffany Weekend! Besides being literally a breath of fresh air, meeting so many nice people plus re-establishing quite a few old friendships all together made for a weekend I will long remember.

Thanks Merissa. With warmest regards, I remain

Janet B.

Dear Merissa

Thank you very much for all the things you did for me & us at P-town. That weekend was the wildest thing I've ever done. I was really sorry I had to leave.

That Sue is a blast! I think she's the funniest one of all. That little dance she does is a blast.

I had so much fun, I think I'll just tell my wife what I'm doing, take a week's vacation and party with you folks this Fall.

Thanks again for letting me in on the fun. It honestly was the most fun I ever had in my life, and I'm dying to try it for 9 days.

Sincerely

Sabra

Dear Merissa

I just wanted to drop a line to say what a great time I had in P-town this past weekend, and to thank and commend you on the great job you did to set it all up.

I made a lot of new friends and acquaintances and I was even entertained by you, not to mention Linda Gerard.

Thanks again.

Sincerely,

Vikki

Dear Merissa

Just a note to say 'Hi" and thanks again for a great weekend. The people were terrific and make the weekend what it was.

Thanks again,

Love,

Kim & Nancy

Dear Merissa

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you and all concerned for all your efforts and troubles in putting together what was for me one of the most memorable events of my life. This may sound like an exaggeration but I mean every word of it. I wish I wasn't so far from Boston because Tiffany sounds like the sort of tasteful, classy sort of club I've been looking for. I've met and been befriended by a group of special Human Beings and I haven't come down from the clouds yet. Of course I've been talking about the First Annual P-town Outing. In case your head is so full of a whirl of faces and new names as mine is, perhaps you'll remember me as Barbara from Long Island NY. I attended with Jaimie, remember me? I hope so. I surely will never forget anyone I met between May 1st and 4th. Some of the more outstanding people in my mind are yourself and Ann, Susan (Wash. DC) Charlotte (Bost.), Patricia, Betty Ann, Judy (Maine) Elinor & Anne & Carolyn, but I suppose this is just because I happened to spend more time with these people. Given the time & opportunity I'm sure everyone else is just as beautiful. Thank God I'm not alone anymore & never will be again. Let me end by saying I'm looking forward in eager anticipation to the next time I can share the company of such wonderful, sensitive, caring people.

Much love
& many thanks

Barbara

Dear Merissa

The May 1st Weekend in Provincetown was without a doubt one of the high points of my life, and I cannot adequately express my gratitude to you for the effort and time you devoted to providing it. I laughed and smiled my way through the entire weekend, and the glow still persists. I loved it! I loved it! I can't wait for the next time.

many delicious memories persist: a rediculously over-dressed breakfast party (or was it brunch?) with Frances, Barbara, Anne and Elinor; a positively delightful cocktail party with Anne and Elinor; a wonderful dinner with Frances, Patricia, Barbara, Anne, Elinor and Erica; rapping in the the lounge with who knows who; a sexy late-night lingerie party; sleeping in my pretty red nightgown in pink satin sheets (ooh!); and of course the highlight of it all, the marvelous performance of Linda Gerard on Sunday afternoon at the Pied Piper, which reduced both Barbara and me to unexplainable tears, and caused me to fall hopelessly in love with Linda.

It was wonderful! Thank you so much!

Love and kisses and tears,

Charlotte

Dear Merissa

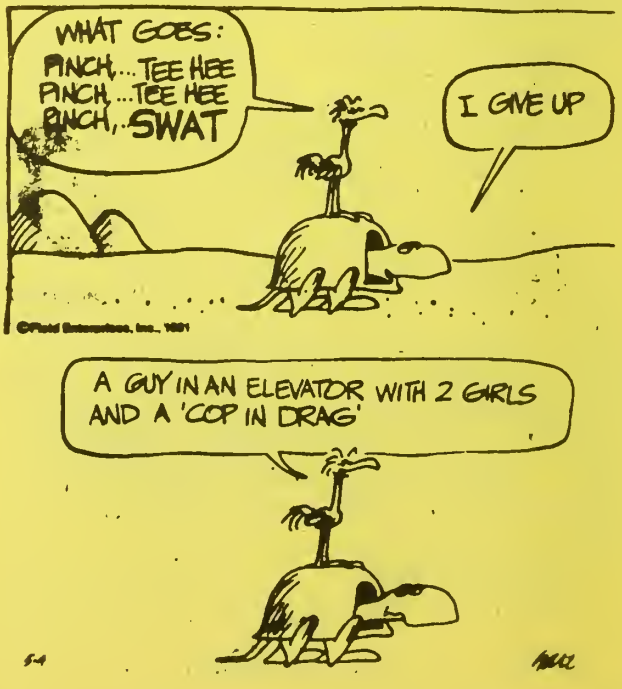
Thank you for organizing one of the nicest weekends I've had. It was good to be in P-town just as it was coming to live for the season. I think everyone had a good time. Linda's concert was most entertaining and I enjoyed our little dinners... Also the C&A Front Room Cocktail Party.

Susan R. & I had a nice chat on the way to Boston. Sounds like there is quite a lot of TV activity in the DC area. Husband & wife dinner parties every month, etc. Maybe Ill run for US Senator. When I saw (male name) after Linda's concert I didn't have the foggiest idea who he was. Finally I recognized his voice. What a mistress of disguise!

I've sent in my application for FF and hope to stay in C&A 106 - I really like that hotel best and the room's so comfortable.

Love,

Patricia



HBIGDA RESOLUTION

On March 7, 1981, Michelle Williams, Betty Ann Lind, Glenda Jones and Ariadne Kane framed a resolution that was presented to th 7th International Gender Dysphoria Association Conference. Those that signed the Resolution were from a cross-section of the association; surgeions, psych- iatrists, psychologists, social workers, and various leaders of the paraculture of cross gen- derism. It was passed unanimously.

WE THE UNDERSIGNED MEMBERS OF THE HARRY BENJAMIN INTERNATIONAL GENDER DYSPHORIA ASSOCIATION PRO- PROSE, AS AN ITEM OF NEW BUSINESS, THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT OF PUR- POSE WHICH UPON FUTURE DISCUSSION WILL SERVE AS A PRINCIPAL PO- SITION OF THE ASSOCIATION BEFORE OTHER PROFESSIONAL SOCIETIES:

TIFFANY - RHODE ISLAND

by
Janet Brodeur

Of possible interest...An or- ganizational meeting was recently held on May 16th in Newport, Rhode Island to set up the framework for a local cross-dressing group hav- ing some affiliation with Tiffany to serve the needs of those of us living in the Greater S.E. Rhode Island area.

With emphasis being placed for- most on friendship, our first ga- thering got off to a good start at the home of Christie Lea in New- port. In attendance was Betsy Shaw, Ramona from Jamestown, Rhonda and Linda from Providence and Pawtucket, Denise from Middle- boro Massachusetts, and myself from Fall River. A rather broad area of our geographic region was represented as you can see and with interest like this, we do believe the prospects are indeed very favorable for success.

Taking its lead from the girls, future plans could include dress up parties of course, photo nites, makeup demonstrations critique sessions, clothing exchanges and escorted nights on the town just for a few examples plus much more!

More news concerning our progress will be forwarded to Merissa as we develop. Let me just say that the point of our little group is simple...Hey! You need not be alone anymore___Join us. Help us grow. It will be fun having you!

BULLETIN BOARD

SPECIAL THANKS

Elizabeth Warburton and Virginia Hunt for their help in planning the Weekend.

Sharon Hart for helping to coordinate things in the Mid-West, and arranging for the movies.

To all the participants and friends who helped make the Weekend such a success.

"SPECIAL NOTICE"

The Phantom Callers have struck again. This time the victem is Hendrika, our dressmaker. Kooks called and haarassed, and made appointments then didn't show. Hendrika is a highly skilled professional kind enough to offer us her services, and the screwballs screwed it up for us all. She has withdreawn her services.

We pass on our regret, and our sincerest opologies to Hendrika.

We react to this treatment of Hendrika with frustration and anger. So many times professional people have offered us their services, only to be hurt. The conclusion is obvious: TVs cannot be trusted.

The Tiffany Club will no longer publish the phone numbers or addresses of its consultants, or give referrals through the mail or over the phone. These referral s will be given to active responsible members in good standing of Tiffany ONLY!!!!

TIME TO MOVE

This little house in Weston (sounds like a TV program) has served the Tiffany Club well, but alas, its time to move. The owners are selling the house and are asking a ghastly sum. (It's because of the location I'm told. I'n also told they expect to get their price. With so many crazy people out there, I believe them.) They were kind enough to give us first option, but what they are asking and what we are willing to pay are (politely said) different. We could probably buy the basement and that's all. Therefore, it's time to move.

A great debate rages. Where do we move? If we go rural, there's space and privacy and a good place to party, but it's inconvenient and difficult to support financially. If we go urban its more convenient, easier to support fiancially, and closer to more things to do, but not much in the way of space and privacy. In the country we can provide space for outdoor activities such as bar-b-ques and pool parties. In the city we can serve a greater number of people, which is what Tiffany is supposed to do in the first place. What we need is a place in town, and a place in the country, and a millionaire to help us pay for it. We also need to make up our minds in a hurry, for we have to be out of Weston by the end of July.

(Famous last words: "Oh God, why does everything have to be such a hassel?")

MONEY!!!

The Tiffany Club has expenses for which regular sources of income are not designed to pay. (I.e., legal expenses for our Federal Tax exempt status, finding newer and better facilities, etc.) Simply stated, the more money we have, the better job we can do to serve our membership.

The largest immediate expenses are for legal fees (est. $5-700.00), and the cost of relocation. Please help!!!!
